REPORT- SENIOR CITIZEN HOME CARE VISIT

Humanitarian activities play a vital role in promoting social responsibility, empathy and care for fellow human beings. With this objective, our institution organized a humanitarian activity programme to support and uplift the underprivileged members of society to inculcate humanitarian values among students.

As part of the programme, totally 25 students and faculty members of our college were actively participated in the humanitarian service. Our Guest Dr.K.K.Chockalinkam, State President and Trainer, Federation of Consumer Organization of Tamilnadu was delivered the special address about the humanity and how to safeguard the senior citizens in our society.

During this programme the essential items such as food, snacks and necessities were distributed to the beneficiaries with care and respect. Interaction with the beneficiaries helped students understand the importance of kindness, sharing and empathy in real life.

The programme was conducted in an organized and disciplined manner under the guidance of faculty members. All participants followed ethical practices and ensured that the service was carried out smoothly.

The programme benefited the needy and underprivileged people, providing them with basic support and emotional comfort. Students developed a sense of empathy and social awareness. The activity strengthened the spirit of service and humanity.

The humanitarian activity programme was a meaningful and rewarding experience for everyone involved. It reinforced the values of compassion, unity and social responsibility among students. Such programme motivate young minds to contribute positively to society and should be encouraged regularly.
